RE: Project on Culture and Conflict

Thank you for sending me a copy of the proposal, the Project on Culture and Conflict by Moji Agha, a visiting scholar in Africana Studies. I certainly view a proposal such as this in the College of Humanities that promotes intercultural and inter-religious dialogue in our society and the world as positive. I hope that the project would attract nationally and internationally reputed scholars and academics in the Humanities who would provide our campus community with instructive insight in intercultural dialogue and the avoidance of cultural conflict. I wish Mr. Agha all of the best in generating support for the project from educational and philanthropic foundations.
